Mastering Challenges

Sales

Order fulfillment issues are resolved slowly, leading to potential delays in delivery due to a lack of visibility in the order management process.

Quality Process

The recording of quality audit results is incomplete and lacks efficient traceability to their origin

Supply Chain

Material availability across plants for better utilization of inventory is lacking. Leading to dead stocks in one plant and production stoppages in other plants

Procurement

Inadequate supplier collaboration results in material shortages, which disrupt manufacturing processes and diminish customer service levels

Machine Maintenance

The lack of Predictive Maintenance results in bottleneck situations during peak demand times

Manufacturing

The handover process from engineering to manufacturing is often problematic, and it is common to experience information loss during the transition

Subcontracting

The end-to-end tracking and monitoring of the subcontracting process are not in place.
